TERRORISM INSURANCE ACT 2003

Premiums Direction

2017

I, Mathias Cormann, Acting Minister for Revenue and Financial Services, give this written direction to the Australian Reinsurance Pool Corporation under paragraph 38(2)(d) of the Terrorism Insurance Act 2003.

Dated ⨆ June 2017

MATHIAS CORMANN

Acting Minister for Revenue and Financial Services

1   Name of Direction

This Direction is the Terrorism Insurance Act 2003 – Premiums Direction 2017.

2   Commencement

This Direction commences on 1 January 2018.

3   Repeal

The Terrorism Insurance Act 2003 – Premiums Direction 2015 is repealed once this Direction takes effect.

4   Definitions

In this Direction:

Act means the Terrorism Insurance Act 2003.

Australia Post has the meaning given by the Australian Postal Corporation Act 1989.

GST has the meaning given by the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999.

premium income:
(a)   for an eligible insurance contract to which subclause 6 (2) does not apply — means the amount calculated for the contract in accordance with subclause 5 (1); and
(b)   for an eligible insurance contract to which subclause 6 (2) applies — means the amount calculated for the contract in accordance with subclause 6 (2).

population centre means an area in Australia that has:
(a)   a population of more than 100 000 people; and
(b)   a Tier A postcode or a Tier B postcode.

reinsured means a person who has entered into a contract of reinsurance with the Corporation.

Tier A postcode means a postcode mentioned in Part 1 of Schedule 1.

Tier A property means eligible property located in an area in Australia that has a Tier A postcode.

Tier B postcode means a postcode mentioned in:
(a)   subclause 7 (1) or (3); or
(b)   Part 2 of Schedule 1.

Tier B property means eligible property located in an area in Australia that has a Tier B postcode.

Tier C postcode means a postcode mentioned in:

(a)   subclause 8 (1); or

(b)   Part 3 of Schedule 1.

Tier C property means eligible property located in an area in Australia:

(a)   that has a Tier C postcode; or

(b)   that does not have a postcode mentioned in:

  (i)   subclause 7 (1) or (3); or

  (ii)   a table in Schedule 1.

Note Several terms and expressions in this Direction have the meaning given by the Act, including:

• Australia

• Corporation

• eligible insurance contract

• eligible property.

5   Calculating premium income if subclause 6 (2) does not apply

(1)   Use the following steps to calculate the amount of premium income for an eligible insurance contract to which subclause 6 (2) does not apply.

Step 1   Identify the amount of the premium written by the reinsured that is attributable to the eligible insurance contract.

Step 2   Identify the amount of the portion of the premium mentioned in Step 1 that has been refunded to a reinsured as a result of adjustments or cancellations related to the eligible insurance contract.

Step 3   Subtract the amount identified under Step 2 from the amount identified under Step 1.

Step 4   Identify the portion of the amount calculated under Step 3 that is attributable to the GST or a stamp duty or Fire Service levy imposed on the contract under the law of a State or Territory.

Step 5   Calculate the amount of premium income by subtracting the amount calculated under Step 4 from the amount calculated under Step 3.

(2)   In this clause:

amount, for Step 2, includes a nil amount.

6 Calculating premium income for certain eligible insurance contracts

Application

(1) Subclause (2) applies to an eligible insurance contract:

    (a) that comprises 2 or more distinct insurance covers that have been packaged or bundled together; and

    (b) that is offered on the basis that the insured must take out one or more of the number of insurance covers offered; and

    (c) in relation to which the premium attributable to each insurance cover the eligible insurance contract comprises is precisely quantifiable; and

    (d) that contains:

        (i) some insurance covers, each of which, if provided individually, would be an eligible insurance contract; and

        (ii) other insurance covers, none of which, if provided individually, would be an eligible insurance contract.

Steps for calculating premium income

(2) Use the following steps to calculate the amount of premium income for an eligible insurance contract mentioned in subclause (1).

Step 1   Add together the premiums attributable to each insurance cover provided by the contract that, if provided individually, would be an eligible insurance contract.

Step 2   For each premium mentioned in Step 1, identify the amount of the portion of the premium that has been refunded to a reinsured as a result of adjustments or cancellations in relation to an insurance cover mentioned in Step 1.

Step 3   Add together each amount identified under Step 2.

Step 4   Subtract the amount calculated under Step 3 from the amount calculated under Step 1.

Step 5   Identify the portion of the amount calculated under Step 4 that is attributable to the GST or a stamp duty or Fire Service levy imposed on the contract under the law of a State or Territory.

Step 6   Calculate the amount of premium income by subtracting the amount calculated under Step 5 from the amount calculated under Step 4.

(3) In this clause:

amount, for Step 2, includes a nil amount.

7 New Tier B postcodes

New postcode allocated to a new area

(1) Subclause (2) applies if:

    (a) an area in Australia has a postcode included in Part 2 of Schedule 1; and

    (b) Australia Post:

        (i) divides the area into 2 or more new areas; and

        (ii) allocates a new postcode to each new area.

(2) Each new postcode is a Tier B postcode. .

New or existing postcode allocated to increased area of population centre

(3) Subclause (4) applies if:

    (a) the area a population centre occupies increases; and

    (b) Australia Post allocates either of the following:

        (i) a new postcode to the population centre;

        (ii) an existing postcode to the increased part of the area the population centre occupies.

(4) A postcode allocated to the population centre or the increased part of the area is a Tier B postcode.

8 New Tier C postcodes

(1) Subclause (2) applies if:

    (a) an area in Australia has a postcode included in Part 3 of Schedule 1; and

    (b) Australia Post:

        (i) divides the area into 2 or more new areas; and

        (ii) allocates a new postcode to each new area.

(2) Each new postcode is a Tier C postcode.

9 Corporation must charge premium in accordance with specified rates

(1) For subsection 38 (2) of the Act, the premium that the Corporation must charge for a reinsured eligible insurance contract is the percentage of premium income mentioned, for the type of cover provided by the eligible insurance contract, in column 3 of the following table.

Item	Type of cover	Percentage of premium income
1	Loss of or damage to eligible property that is owned by the insured	(a) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier A property — 16% of premium income; and (b) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier B property — 5.3% of premium income; and (c) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier C property — 2.6% of premium income
2	Business interruption and consequential loss arising from: (a) loss of, or damage to, eligible property that is owned or occupied by the insured; or (b) inability to use eligible property, or part of eligible property, that is owned or occupied by the insured	(a) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier A property — 16% of premium income; and (b) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier B property — 5.3% of premium income; and (c) for an eligible insurance contract covering Tier C property — 2.6% of premium income
3	Liability that arises out of the insured being the owner or occupier of eligible property	Nil

Note   For the definition of premium income, see clause 4.

(2) In this clause:

reinsured eligible insurance contract means an eligible insurance contract covered by a contract of reinsurance entered into by a reinsured and the Corporation.
